Dear EPA,

Your proposed plan for cleaning up Portland, Oregon's Willamette River doesn't do enough. We want all of the pollution removed so that fish consumption warnings are removed forever. Capping the sediment is only a band-aid. We live in the Cascadia Subduction Zone and the river flows along the West Hills Faultline. We are currently at a 20% risk of a point 9 earthquake in this area and in the next 50 years, the likelihood of an earthquake is even higher.

I understand how costly cleaning up the river will be. Let's hold the greatest polluters accountable: Monsanto and their PCB's, Chevron, BP and Exxon. Why should the citizens of Portland have to foot the bill?

Respectfully,
